Interiors expert Laura Torregrossa on how to decorate with candy colours

Vibrant furnishings, lively accent pieces and bold textiles can enhance a neutral design scheme

There is a trend in interior design towards muted colour palettes and understated elegance. While this approach can create a sense of sophistication, it can sometimes leave you yearning for that vibrant pop of colour.

As an alternative to monochrome and subdued spaces, interiors embellished with candy-coloured accents will introduce a sense of playfulness into your home, creating striking and invigorating spaces.
