

Livingetc

secret address book: crafted stone furniture

MEET THE CREATOR OF CANDY-COLOURED HOMEWARE THAT'S (ALMOST) GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT - THIS IS CLASSIC STONE WITH A PLAYFUL TWIST

Designer Laura Torregrossa's homeware offering is a thoroughly European affair: each of the pieces from her Paris-based interior design brand, Marbera, is crafted in Italy from buried gems like marble and onyx. The stone is sourced by Laura from around the world, chosen for its superior quality; it's then turned into coffee tables, side tables, stools, vases, lampshades and more. If you're particularly picky, you can even create a bespoke piece, selecting your preferred stone, finish, design and cut. The end result? Pieces that feel like precious gems in themselves.

PHOTOGRAPH SIMON BAUNGÅRD

Gaia honey onyx table, €2,950, Marbera; glassware from Helle Mardahl